

Nathalie DeCiantis Manager of Workplace Strategy CBRE

“Nathalie DeCiantis is a Manager of Workplace Strategy at CBRE. She leads the delivery of workplace consulting projects throughout Canada. She is an experienced senior Interior Designer with a demonstrated history of complex project management in U.S and Canada for multinational architectural studios. Nathalie seeks to better understand the complex challenges facing organizations, and effectively develop strategies that are unique to each client’s vision, culture and brand. Her collaborative approach to drive and support meaningful workplace transformations have created long term value for her clients.

Prior to joining CBRE, Nathalie has worked at interdisciplinary studios for several global design firms such as Perkins+Will (U.S & Canada), DIALOG, and Arne Fender Katsalidis (Canada & London UK) where she has led the design of corporate, commercial and higher education projects, working closely with clients to deliver innovative, human-centered environments through design research and creative problem-solving.”
